GERMANY WILL ATTEMPT TO HOLD ON IN THE EAST

(By United Press)

Washington, Oct. 3.—The Italian army in Albania have launched an offensive against the Austrians there, cables to the Italian embassy stated today. The purpose of the offensive is to demoralize and destroy the Austrian army in Albania with a view to facilitating the expected surrender of the Turks, the cable explained. General Serrero operating three columns is advancing victoriously with the object of effecting a junction with the left wing under General Esperi. The Austrians are resisting vigorously.

Germany will make every effort to maintain a grip in the east while withdrawing her forces from Belgium and northern France.

Advices from London today said that in response to notification from Turkey that the Ottoman Empire intends to propose peace to the Allies Germany mixed threats with pleadings in a lengthy note insisting that Turkey refrain from such action. Turkey's decision is expected soon.

Previous dispatches said that the Germans would likely make every effort to cling to Bulgaria by throwing all available forces into the country to oppose the Allies.

Reports from the western front today said that the Allied drives on several wide fighting sectors of the line were renewed today. Roulers has been fired by the Germans who are withdrawing from that part of Belgium.

General Haig announced that the enemy was withdrawing or a 20 mile front between Armentieres and Lens. The British pressing the retiring forces closely are advancing to a depth of two miles in heavy fighting for highly organized positions to which the Germans have clung tenaciously since before the trench warfare was abandoned in that sector.

The French continuing their advance between the Champagne and the Vesle took Challerange, a short distance east of Monthois and Loivre, 6 miles north of Rheims. General Haig reported that the British attacked again this morning north of St. Quentin where the enemy saved himself from disaster yesterday by heavy counter attacks. Progress was made by the Allied offensive in Flanders and before Cambrai and St. Quentin.

QUARTER MILLION HUNS TAKEN PRISONERS SINCE JULY FIRST

(By United Press)

Paris, Oct. 3.—The Allies took 123,036 German prisoners in France and Belgium during September, it was officially announced today. The captives included 120,193 men and 2,843 officers.

During the same period the Allies took 1600 cannons and more than 10,000 machine guns.

From July 15 to September 30, the Allies took prisoner 248,494 men and 5,518 officers and captured 3,669 cannons and 23,90 machine guns.

PRINCE MAX OF BADEN SUCCEEDS HERTLING AS GERMAN CHANCELLOR

By United Press

London, Oct. 3.—Prince Max of Baden has been appointed German Chancellor to succeed Count von Hertling, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch received from Amsterdam today.

Maximilian Alexander Frederick William was born July 10 1867. His father was the brother of the reigning Grand Duke of Baden. Max's wife was Princess Marie Louis, daughter of the Duke of Brunswick. Her family claims to be of the Royal House of Great Britain.

COLLECT SEEDS OF CLASS 1A AND 1G. THESE FRUITS AND MEAN SAME THING SAVE BOYS' LIVES

1. The Red Cross will be the organization in every city or town which will accept collections from all sources and make arrangement for shipping. It will also give out needed information and make announcements to the papers.

Every organization and individual in the country is expected to co-operate and take part in this vitally important campaign but the Red Cross is to be the principal Agent of the Government in connection therewith.

Materials to be Collected

2. The following are the materials to be collected:
 - a. Peach stones or seeds.
 - b. Apricot pits.
 - c. Plum pits.
 - d. Olive pits.
 - e. Date seeds.
 - f. Cherry pits (only pits from native cherries can be used—do not include pits of those from Italy.)
 - g. Brazil-nut shells.
 - h. Walnut shells (English or native).
 - i. Hickory-nut shells.
 - j. Butter-nut shells.

The field has been studied carefully by Government chemists and no materials outside of the above list are desired.

In order that the Red Cross may be aided in this work the people residing within the jurisdiction of Clearfield Pennsylvania Chapter, its branches and auxiliaries, are requested to save the materials listed above and dry their own pits.

The Chapter asks that these materials be held by the collectors until a place can be arranged for at which to receive and pack them for shipment.

We are instructed to say to you that:

"Great emphasis should be placed on the fact that this is truly an emergency matter. It is a question of saving the lives and health of our men overseas from German poison gas and every patriotic citizen in the whole country should be eager to take part in this campaign."

"This Campaign is different from any yet undertaken by the Red Cross as it is being carried on at the direct

The local selective service headquarters are sending out their classification cards and as a result have since been annoyed a great deal by persons writing, telephoning and coming in to have explained to them the different classifications. From the questions asked daily very few people appeared to have carefully noted the classification information on their questionnaires.

There was some little change made in the division letters since the first questionnaires were issued following the first draft call and that seems to have caused the doubt in the minds of those inquiring.

Under the new classification all persons with a Class 1 rating are in the first call, regardless of the division letter on the card. For example: "Class 1A is a single man without dependent relatives" and of course is liable for first call. Class 1G is a registrant who is not only a single man without dependent relatives but has claimed no deferred classification. To make a long story short and to avoid further call for information regarding "division letters" it is only necessary to say that all Class 1 registrants are subject to first call regardless of division and their liability for early call or service will depend entirely on their number in the draft lottery held Monday last and which The Progress will publish shortly.

An overflow house witnessed the inaugural of the musical comedy season at the Avenue last evening. "The Queen of the Movies" being the attraction. Altogether it was a production that was well received from beginning to end. — DuBois Morning Courier.

U. S. SHIP TAMPA SUNK WITH ALL ON BOARD LOST

Washington, Oct. 3.—The U. S. S. Tampa formerly a coast guard tug was sunk in foreign waters the Navy department announced today. All aboard are reported lost.

The Tampa was sunk off the English coast in Bristol channel, September 26. Reports received indicated that the Tampa was torpedoed at night while escorting a convoy. Ten officers and 102 enlisted men besides a British army officer and 5 civilians employed on the ship were reported lost.

A SPANISH INFLUENZA CURE

The following regarding "a cure" for the Spanish influenza now ravaging the Atlantic sea coast may be of interest to some of our readers:

A teaspoonful of good pure olive oil taken every two or three hours, followed by a taste of jelly or jam, such as grape jelly, to prevent irritation of the throat by the oil, and snuffing a little of the oil up the nostrils, applied with the foregoing has been sufficient without any other remedies to cure me of the grip and any colds repeatedly.

Of course it is necessary to be well clothed with extra clothing when the rooms are much below 70 degrees Fahrenheit, and especially to keep the mouth shut, breathing through the nose, in the open air.

If the doctors are willing to prescribe so simple a remedy and the people to use it in the case of the "Spanish influenza" which has been destroying so many lives up to the present time, recollecting the pride of Naamen, the Syrian leper as related in II Kings v. 8-14 when he was directed by the prophet Elisha to employ his simple prescription and the certainty with which he was cured when he complied with it, then possibly innumerable lives will be saved and the course of the fearful epidemic stopped.

LIBERTY BOND NEWS OF INTEREST TO YOU

Washington, Oct. 3.—Falling behind in its response to the Liberty Loan the nation today had only passed the $500,000,000 mark. This achievement has required four days. Thus to subscribe the minimum of six billions in the allotted time the nation must subscribe $300,000,000 a day. Officials while admitting that the country is materially behind in its response pointed out that today's figures are unfair. Reports indicate that some reports have not yet reached the Federal Reserve banks. The discrepancy therefore may not actually be as great as it appears.

General Chairman D. E. Hibner at DuBois, appears to be having the "tight wads" on the rail, according to last evening's DuBois Express, which contains the following:

Hibner Gets $150,000
General Chairman D. E. Hibner continues his work on his "go-the-limit" club in connection with the Fourth Liberty Loan Campaign in the DuBois district today and reports thirty members at $5,000 each this afternoon, a total of $150,000, which he has procured personally in less than six hours' work.

In The Philipsburg Region
A rather unique Liberty Loan meeting was held Tuesday evening at the residence of Harry Callahan at Cold Stram. The Liberty Loan orchestra was on hand; the speakers, L. G. Runk, Rev. Earl J. Bowman and Captain Goddard, and the sales force were there. The only thing lacking was the crowd. The orchestra played several selections, but only a few people, some six or seven, responded and came to the meeting.

After some consultation on the part of the sales committee, Mr. Runk announced that, on account of the smallness of the audience, the addresses of the evening would be dispensed with, and that the committee hoped that all who could would attend a meeting to be held at the North Philipsburg school house at a later date.

Then the surprise of the evening was sprung. A voice from the darkness announced that he did not propose to have the Cold Stream meeting a failure. He therewith subscribed for $1000.00. One after another of the small audience followed suit until $3600.00 was subscribed. This is the largest amount taken at a Philipsburg District meeting to date and Cold Stream may be proud of its record. Those who have this district in charge intimate that there are a few more thousand where these came from when the house to house canvass is started.

An enthusiastic Liberty Loan meeting was held at McCortney last evening. The speakers were H. B. Powell, J. Frank Snyder and Hon. Joseph E. Phillips. Following the speech making more than $7200 worth of bonds were sold.

The Smoke Run community turned out en masse last night to a Liberty Loan meeting which was addressed by Matt Savage and J. Fred Weaver. The Houtzdale band furnished music for the meeting and a good healthy bond subscription was the result.

At Coalport last evening a huge meeting was held to start the campaign, in this hustling town. The speakers were W. L. Swoope and Rev. John C. Collins, of Clearfield. Cashier Silverthorn, of the Coalport bank presided and the Clearfield Liberty Chorus furnished the music. Private Devoe and the U. S. sailor accompanying him were also present. No bonds were sold at the meeting as the Coalport committee is handling their canvass in a different manner. There was much enthusiasm manifested.

The employees of the A. W. Leonardson Company stores went over the top 100 per cent. strong on the Fourth Liberty Loan. Every individual promptly purchased a bond and the store has been awarded a 100 per cent. honor flag.

R. D. Swoope, Esq., and C. S. Russell of Curwensville, addressed a largely attended meeting at Burnside last evening at which many bonds were sold.

The Clearfield Auto Supply company qualified for the 100 per cent. class this morning, every employee emulating the example of their employer purchased one or more bonds.

TWO MORE DEATHS FROM SPANISH FLU

Two deaths in addition to those published yesterday took place at Wishaw as the result of the epidemic of Spanish influenza that has been ravaging the small mining town. Mrs. Frank Cuba, aged 28, and Francesco Artolini, aged 30 years, succumbed to pneumonia. An infant child of the dead man died early in the morning and his widow and four children are critically ill.

J. Moore Campbell a representative of the State Health Department, arrived in Wishaw Wednesday morning to aid local health authorities in the fight to check the disease. Four volunteer nurses have been secured and physicians from Reynoldsburg, Punxsutawney and Eleonore are lending their aid in caring for the afflicted ones.

DR. W. S. PIPER IN NEW YORK

Captain W. S. Piper of the U. S. Medical corps, the first Clearfield physician to offer his services to the government following the declaration of war, and who saw strenuous service with the British army in France, has arrived in New York and is likely to be home on furlough before long. Dr. Piper has been suffering from acute rheumatism for some time and was invalided back to London and thence to a New York hospital.

Remember the hospital ship! It's not what you have done! Buy as you never did before. Up, and at 'em with Liberty Bonds! Buy Bonds and keep them!

OUR ALLIES ARE WATCHING

We now know that the Allies are watching the progress of the war in France and the mighty sea power of England, wrecked the long-aided plan of Teuton devastation. Our Allies did all this with but one aim: to save our best blood and treasure the works of civilization against the ungodly fury of the Hun. The rest of the world can never quite repay their sacrifices during the dark days when Germany swept full panicked over her borders.

They have done their part nobly during four long years. Now comes our turn! We are needed, badly needed! We have raised the men, and shall raise more—but the bravest men are powerless against Germany's forty years of preparation unless we back them with the power of our money.

Our Allies are watching for America's expression of the will to win the will to destroy Prussia's might—the will to reap the fruits of their long, heroic struggle for right and decency. Let them see! Show them your appreciation! Double your subscription for Liberty Bonds! Buy all you can pay for on the installment plan! Pledge by the week, by the month—but BUY!

'T 'IM WHILE 'E'S GROGGY

Well authenticated reports hint that the evacuation of Belgium by the Huns is started or at least in preparation. Old Man Hindenburg and his slave drivers and child murderers are finally becoming weak and tired under the merciless hammering of the British, the French, the Belgians and the Italians, all of whom have taken new heart since they see that the United States means business in our war against the principle that "might makes right". An advancing army always has the knowledge of territory gained to bolster up their courage and morale and it should be remembered that the Huns were to all appearances an advancing and victorious army previous to the fighting of this last July. Since that time they have been forced to give ground on every front where they have come in contact with Allied forces. In their various retreats they have come to realize that all the territory gained and loot taken was "stolen goods" and while for a time they gloated over the possession of their ill-gotten gain, the forced giving up of it will be all the harder. Their brigandage is all in vain. Their blood has been sacrificed for a lost cause and they are beginning to see it. Four years of great prosperity to a nation skilled in science and arts is wasted and traded for a reputation that they cannot live down in centuries. The Hun warrior is still scrappy in spots but as a whole he is wavering; groggy from the effects of the first defeats he has experienced in years. The sentiments of the Tommy, "it 'im while 'e's groggy," are the proper ones for this month. They are doing that very thing on the Belgian battle line. What are you doing toward 'tittin' 'im with a big Liberty Bond subscription?

WHAT HOME SERVICE MEANS

When America entered the war, John Smith wanted to enlist immediately. He had always been a great help financially to his widowed mother, but he felt it his duty to go and fight in the great world struggle, and his mother agreed. She said that as William, the younger boy, was getting along well in his work, and Jane had a new position in a store, she could manage nicely.

It took courage to say this, as much courage as she could muster, for John had been the comfort and mainstay of the family in every way, managing the expenses, and looking carefully after the younger children; but she determined not to stand in the way of duty.

For awhile all went well; then William had a serious illness and was unable to work for weeks. Jane had to stay at home so much to help nurse him, that she lost her position, and could not find another. The mother was worn out with anxiety, and there was no money coming in except the small amount John sent out of his private's pay, which was not enough to buy food.

Finally one day in deep despair she took the advice of a neighbor, and went to the Home Service Department of the Red Cross.

"I never thought I'd have to ask help of anyone in my life," she said pathetically to the Home Service Worker. "But everything unexpected has happened to me at once, and I just feel overwhelmed."

Many women feel "overwhelmed" in these days when the head of the family has gone to war, and unexpected problems come up for the mother or wife to face. Often these problems are entirely too great for the resourcefulness of the women, and then the Home Service Department of the Red Cross stands ready and anxious to help.

In the case of John's mother, it gave financial aid till William was able to work again, found another position for Jane, and visited and encouraged the worried woman till her family affairs were straightened out. So in many cases it helps in various ways, keeping up the family courage till the soldiers return.

No more important branch of the Red Cross exists, for unless the man away fighting for his country knows that all is well with the ones back home, he loses heart and his efficiency is weakened. It is a patriotic duty to care for the lonely families of our

Stop Itching Eczema

Never mind how often you have tried and failed, you can stop burning, itching eczema quickly by applying a little zemo furnished by any druggist for 35c. Extra large bottle, $1.00. Healing begins the moment zemo is applied. In a short time usually every trace of eczema, tetter, pimples, rash, blackheads and similar skin diseases will be removed.

For clearing the skin and making it vigorously healthy, always use zemo, the penetrating, antiseptic liquid. It is not greasy and it does not stain. When others fail it is the one dependable treatment for skin troubles of all kinds.

GLEANING FROM SOLDIER'S LETTERS

Amex Forces, France, Sept. 6th.

Dearest Mother and all: Am now in the advance zone and working mighty hard. Since writing last I have been moved again. This time the trip was made in a box car. As you can see conditions were not ideal but we enjoyed the trip and had an interesting time.

The country that we passed thru was very pretty and the towns quite interesting. We loafed for a whole day in a railroad yard and that morning I ran into George Moore. Believe me it was good to see some one from home. He was also in transit and I spent almost the whole day with him. He had been to the front for a while and had taken diphtheria and had been sent back to a hospital. He was well again and was on his way to rejoin his company. He says he is getting along fine.

We reached here one evening and were billeted in a small town. By this time I have managed to get a pretty good bed together and everything is moving along smoothly now. I thought I knew what hard work was but I sure have been working hard for the past week. Breakfast, work, dinner, work, supper, and perhaps work, but we all realize that it must be done and we have very few slackers. This village is quite a small one. The people all seem moderately well off. The first night here I made friends with a family. We go and talk with them almost every evening but I never expect to be able to speak French. It is hard to pick up and I do not have any back ground to work on and no time to study the fundamentals. It is lots of fun, however, to try to talk to them and try to make them understand. That is about all I can tell. My location and the nature of the work is tabooed. Am just as safe here as I would be in Camp Hancock. At times we can hear firing and we see numerous airplanes, but do not worry about my safety. The news from the front has been very encouraging for the past three or four days. It seems that the allied armies are resolute.

Am enclosing a request for the socks I missed. This address should reach me even though I may be moved. Please send them at once. Received my first mail last night. It was a letter from Alice Baker written July 3th. I was glad to hear it.

We all feel that our unit will come regularly now, and I am anxiously waiting for word from home. Our old bunch is pretty well split up. I am still with some of the boys and that helps a lot. Although I do not have much faith in army schools, after the work at the supply school has turned out as it has, I figure that the knowledge will not hurt any one and now that I have a chance to take 60 days in studying ammunition I am going to do it. Home folks are permitted to send papers. They sure would be appreciated. This is my fourth letter to you. Love to everybody.

Walter R. Owens in a letter to his mother Mrs. I. G. Owens, written from Chatter's Hill, England, says he is enjoying himself greatly. He visited a coast town and was nicely treated. He says they have been having nice weather but the nights are much colder there than they are here this time of year.

George R. Seger, of Granpian, writing to his mother tells of his trip across the ocean and says he could have made a great haul of fish going over if he had taken his rod and line along. He says it is worth half a boy's life to see what he had already seen. Ed Rafferty and Doris Sterling are all the boys from home here.

HOT WATER THE BEST LIVER AND BOWEL MEDICINE

Days glass of hot water before breakfast washes poisons from system

Physicians the world over recommend the inside bath, claiming it is of vastly more importance than outside cleanliness because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing ill health while the pores in the ten yards of bowels do.

Men and women are urged to drink each morning, before breakfast a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of Epsom's Salts in it and a laxative means of helping to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the various days' indigestible material, poisons, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and urinating the entire alimentary canal before taking more food into the stomach.

Just as soap and hot water cleanse and freshen the skin so hot water and Epsom's Salts act on the eliminative organs.

Those who wake up with bad breath, coated tongue, nasty taste or have a dull aching head, sallow complexion, acid stomach; others who are subject to bilious attacks or constipation should obtain a quarter pound of Epsom's Salts at the drug store. This will cost very little but is sufficient to demonstrate the value of inside bathing. Those who continue ill each morning are assured of pronounced results, both in regard to health and appearance.

Remember the hospital ships! Liberty is cheap at the price! It's your chance to STRIKE!

COMMITTEE ON PUBLIC INFORMATION RELEASES STORY OF FIRST BATTLE OF THIS WAR ON THE HIGH SEAS

By Arthur E. McFarlane

"That was School an' Schmitt. Was they Americans? Sure, 'em of us, know 'em more who was alive an' in the armed guard was Americans."

And we sat back on the bunk of that little white-painted cobby hole that was his quarters, and waited for him to go on. Around us were all the bunk houses and officers' quarters of the Brooklyn Armed Guard Camp. And the armed guard of the speaker's story was the one that made America's first fight to a finish with the Hun on the sea.

In fact, the story-teller was that armed guard's commander, by name Andrew Compassaki, late gunners mate on the Arizona, and a native of Greece. Also he told his story only under compulsion.

Its beginning? His gunners were taking care of the 4,500-ton gasoline freighter Moreni. She met her submarine one hazy dawn, away back in June, 1917, off Cape Palos, Spain. From the start she was outraged and outlandish. She could use only one gun, because of her superstructure, while the Hun was raking her with two. For the last hour her gun pointers and range-finders made their fight above gasoline which was on fire. And in the last minutes the attacker ran in close, used the Moreni's burning "gas" as a smoke screen, and simply overwhelmed her with shrapnel and high explosive both. Only that isn't the story. Or perhaps it isn't the story at all, as a story, that really counts.

But let the thing come out as Compassaki told it.

"Oh, by then they was holin' us good! Forty or fifty holes we had, I guess. An' the gas was runnin' out of them an' burnin' on the water. The merchant crew? They was fine! Once the fire got air enough, well, the stokers an' oilers, they was goin' to go the first, an' sure. An' you but they knowed it. But only once in a while one of them come up—just to see how we're makin' out. Not any more than that. They was fine! Americans? Sure. Spanish-Americans, from Porto Rico."

"Up above, too, the shrapnel was comin'. The shrapnel shells, they was the worst. Som'times they'd break so close we'd all be laid flat. It was like that when they got Conover. Another, it carried away our wireless. An' when the boy was reportin' that—he was laughin', too—by golly he was som' sponky kid, only I couldn't always understand his talk—another shrapnel cleaned out his house an' dynamoes. But it was later he died—when he was bein' picked up—like Moustner an' Geisen."

"By that time, all our after ammunition was gone, an' I had to make a line to pass it from the forward magazine. Some of our boys I used, and some from the crew. An' all the time, that damn gas volcano, it was waitin' to let go beneath us. But the boys, they was all just a kind-a laughin'. An' every time ole Fritz would get to us good, 'Fine!' they'd say, 'Fine! Som' sholin' son. But maybe, at that, maybe if you once come close enough, by-y gee, we'll get you yet!"

"That was what we was all hopin'—if only we could get him close enough! There was one big fellow, big enough to carry two or three shells, he just kep' smilin' all the time. You'd say fightin' Germans was where he lived. An' I was just goin' to say to him, 'Say, I guess you could do it all yourself, hay?' But I didn't. For right then a shell come, an' cut him near in two. He was a Finn, or a Russian-American."

"Well, it was then, too, that our wheel ropes was shot away. I didn't know then it was that. All I know is, the ship wasn't steerin' no more. She was just goin' round an' round in that burnin' gas. By golly, I thinks that's somethin' more to see about. An' I was startin' up forward to the steerin' bridge w'en—wool—that volcano it come!"

"The whole port side of the deck went down. No boys was on that side. I don't think nobody was. An' there wasn't no explosion, no great big explosion. But it was enuff without. It sure looked like that was the end!"

Outside on the barracks gun mounts, a row crew flung smashing-ly into practice with the big six-inchers. But Compassaki raised his voice a little, and went on again.

"All the boys that was aft, they had their orders. An' they had their boats assigned—different boats, to give the best chance that somebody could be saved to make the report. But the boys forward, with the odder gun, they'd got to see me, too. The fire, it was blowin' every way. But I fixed my coat around my head, an' got through it that way, an' only my hands and arms was burned."

"By golly, you'd say all the ship was blazin' then. An' when she began to go around, the flames was the other way, so that nobody could see each other for the smoke. The boys, when I got to them, they didn't know where who was alive an' who was dead. There was one good boat left. Anyhow, she looked good then. An' the captain an' som' of the crew, they was tryin' to get her clear. 'Come on!' they kep' a-hollerin'. 'By cripes, come on!' They thought they couldn't go no more.

"An' them boys, I guess they thought they couldn't go no more. They knowed that som' was dead. An' what wasn't wounded, they was burned. They thought that anyhow they got to give up the ole ship then. An' the tears was runnin' off their eyes. They thought they was done."

"But they wasn't! They wasn't! Just then the smoke cleared again. We could see that Dotehman. An' we could see our magazine an' our ammunition. If we couldn't get it to the other gun no more, that was all right. We had another."

"'Boys, I says, 'Stick! Stick! Come back to it! This is the time for us Americans to make our name! An' they did come back to it, an' we fought them wit' that forward gun." They came back. They fought with that forward gun. And, after that, in a life boat that was splinter riddled, they tried to carry on the fight with a machine gun. They believed they might be able to get near enough to the submarine to board her. But that is not the real ending of the story. It is this.

"And the captain?" "Did he come back?"

"Sure!" gleamed Compassaki. "Sure! 'Mate, he says, 'I gase the ole ship is gone. An' I gase we're all a-goin' wit' her. But that's all right. Led her go. By-y yee, I stick to the end!—Tomson, I think his name was, born in Norway. An' I think he was an American, too."

"American, too." And we who are Smiths and Jones and Robinsons—Americans of the old sort—are just beginning to understand that. We follow the records of our aces. Almost a fifth of them have German names. Recently some one checked over our first 5,000 casualties by race—so far as the names could indicate it—and discovered that about one-tenth of them seemed to be Polish. For years we have talked of the "melting pot," but haven't felt that we could quite believe in it. Well, this war is a genuine melting pot; or, better, a kind of great blast furnace crucible. And it is showing what already has been done, and, day by day, is doing new fusing that will stand forever.

What Do You Mean "Afford"?

By George Ade

We come to another big task. This time we need not call for helpers. The volunteer workers stream in myriad hosts along the main highway leading to victory and vindication.

All patriots, by confession.

The grumblers are awed into silence. If the taint of disloyalty remains anywhere it is hidden as a shameful secret. The heads are wagging and we hear many bold assurances:

"I'll do all I can."

"I'll go as far as the next fellow."

"I'll take all I can afford to take."

We are speaking, of course, of the Fourth Liberty Loan and the willingness of the war-backers to subscribe.

This time we do not explain a Liberty Loan and how it works, or why we battle with Germany or that a war costs money. It will just about require a search-warrant to find a man who does not say that he will take all of the bonds he can "afford" to take.

But, O my countrymen, we need night schools and correspondence schools, private tutors and Chautauquas and special information bureaus to enlighten Mr. A. and Mr. B. and Mr. C. as to the real meaning of the word "afford."

Are you penciling around to find out how much money you can set aside without the slightest inconvenience to any of your pet private projects?

Are you trying to decide how many bonds you will have to take in order to escape the charge of being a slacker?

Are you getting ready to answer in hundreds a country that has endowed you with thousands?

As you squint your eyes and try to decide upon the sum which will fairly represent your individual quota, are you acting as attorney for the United States of America or have you gone in for technicalities in order to protect special interests?

In reasoning with your conscience, are you trying to be generous or trying to play safe?

It is up to you.

The buck cannot be passed.

It is for each man to decide whether he is going to be a thoroughbred or a squeezer of 50-cent pieces.

For the sake of your own self-respect, come through to the limit. If you live to be a thousand years old you never will have another chance to start your iron dollars upon such a noble mission.

Do you wish to deepen the wrinkles upon the brows in Potsdam?

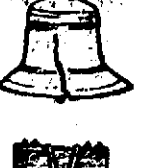

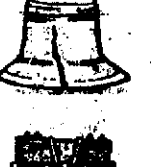

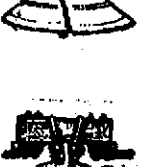

Would you fortify the courage of every soldier in France?

Shall we set in such a stack that the Kaiser can't see over the top of it?

All right! You are appointed a Special Agent.

Don't wait for a committee to hunt you up or run you down.

Hurry to the bank and break through the line and order so many Liberty Bonds that the man inside will be dazed and all of the neighbors surprised and all of your relatives proud.

GET UP REAL EARLY TO SEE WAR RELICS TOMORROW MORNING

All Clearfield people should see the war trophies train at the Pennsylvania station tomorrow morning from 6 to 8 o'clock. It means getting up a little earlier than usual but you will be well repaid for your trouble. A visit to this train will bring you in closer touch with the activities of the battle of France than at any time since the United States entered the war, when a whole trainload of trophies of the victories that have been won by the American armies and their allies will be exhibited here.

The train will be sidetracked near the P. R. R. passenger depot and everybody will be given an opportunity to see the cannon, machine guns, swords, helmets, depth bombs, gas throwing guns, gas masks, pistols and various articles in the equipment of the Huns that have been taken by the valorous Yankees and their allies. The exhibition is an incident of the Fourth Liberty Loan campaign.

Enormous quantities of fighting equipment, impediments and supplies were captured in all the big drives in which the American armies have participated in the past two or three months including hundreds of big guns, thousands of machine guns and hundreds of thousands of the smaller weapons of warfare. Some are utilized against the Huns but some of it is useful only as trophies or for the melting pot.

Much of the stuff to be exhibited here is doubtless the product of the big Krupp works at Essen, concerning which all are more or less familiar and it is expected that the exhibition will attract an enormous crowd to the train.

It will be shown at various places over the country and cannot be held very long at one place, so that arrangements will be made to utilize the exhibition to the greatest possible advantage while it is here.

He says he enjoys army life but would like to get over seas to tackle the Hun.

BURGLAR CAUGHT IN 4TH WARD

Frank Branch, colored, employed at Harbison-Walker Brick Works No. 2, was placed in jail yesterday morning by Constable Reilly on a charge of burglary. Branch is charged with having broken into the shanty of another colored man named William Deppert, in the rear of Joe Marino's store on Daisy street, and purloining therefrom one Elgin watch, a musical clock of considerable value and $15.00 in money.

The robbery occurred about 1:30 yesterday morning while the victim was working on the night shift. When he came home and discovered his loss Deppert went up and awakened Officer Carlson to whom he told his troubles and suspicions. The officer was soon on the job and quickly rounded the robber up. He was found with the goods on him and Deppert made information before Justice Miligan against him.

Constable Reilly was given the legal process and attaching himself to Carlson's prisoner soon landed him in Fort Cornum where he will remain in default of bail until the Clearfield county courts dispose of the case.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says headache is sign you have been eating too much meat

When you wake up with headache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become port of paralyzed and jammed. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them. Do you relieve your bowels removing all the body's uricous waste, else you have headache, sick headache, dizzy spells, your stomach sour, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channies often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four tablets of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, a class of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous pills is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending the bladder weakness.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a safe, regular meat eaters. It is the uric acid cannot injure and makes a safe, regular meat eaters.

This Store Has the Most Satisfying Collection of Dependable Furs

We make this statement unhesitatingly—and we are rather of the opinion that we are very modest in our statement—because we have rarely, if ever, had a more desirable collection and a wider range of choice of desirable and reliable qualities. If the war should continue for an indefinite period, it is very doubtful whether furs of this kind will be possible to secure for many years to come—and surely not at present costs. Every single skin in the house has been carefully selected and cured. The styles here are very exclusive in design and so carefully made that they will give unquestioned service.

ROOF OLD CENTRE CHURCH SAME AS THEY HUSK CORN

Those native farmer citizens living in the vicinity of Hyde City and up in and around the Bailey settlement sure have the community spirit of their pioneer ancestors. When they find anything necessary for good citizens to do they straightway go and do it. Not long since they got together and harvested the neighbor Emanuel Schone wolder's oats and corn, and are even now getting ready to organize a husking party to further aid the old fellow whose only son is at war.

Recently these same good citizens discovered the Centre M. E. church needed a new roof and as the congregation is small and the expense was considerable they decided the improvement was a community obligation accordingly they decided that last Monday was the day to roof the church. They all chucked farming for the day and became carpenters. They marched down on the ancient edifice about the time farmers ordinarily go to work and by 10 o'clock a. m. that old church looked as though a party of cultured huns had located a hospital therein and dropped a few tons of bombs on it.

About this time another exodus was seen approaching the church and this second influx of people proved to be the good wives of the community who hitched up and brought their dinners to the farmer carpenters. It was made a regular picnic day and after satisfying their appetites at the noon hour the volunteers shinned the ladders like veteran carpenters and had that new roof on and all in ship shape in plenty time to get home and do the milking, feed the stock and have the usual daily try at the never-ending tasks to be found about a farm in the fall.

SCHOOL NOTES

Clearfield High will keep up their record by buying a bond. C. H. S. has a bond of every issue.

Another Lyceum course will be given in the High School this year, Mr. Andes announced in chapel.

The Senior class held a class meeting Monday.

Seventy-five new volumes will be added to the library soon.

Pupils may sign up for Liberty Bonds at the office. Mr. Andes also sells W. S. S.

Prof. Van Osten, George Weaver, Kenneth Thorn, Harold Bowes, and Harry Bridge went to Hyde to assist in a Liberty Loan meeting recently.

Have all the people who mount cannot gone to war?

The pupils were addressed by some very fine speakers in chapel Thursday evening. Rev. Collins gave a fine patriotic speech in which he urged all pupils to buy bonds.

Two men in uniform were also present. Sailer Merton of the navy was not in position to speak. Private DeVoe then spoke giving some of his experiences as a motorcycle dispatch rider. Private DeVoe served eleven months till he "found a shell with his name on" and was wounded.

Mr. Andes announced that the library will be opened today to the three upper classes.

Last evening the football team held a meeting for the purpose of talking over the coming game with Altoona, H. S. on October 12.

GERMANY WILL ATTEMPT TO HOLD ON IN THE EAST

(By United Press)

Washington, Oct. 3.—The Italian army in Albania have launched an offensive against the Austrians there, cables to the Italian embassy stated today. The purpose of the offensive is to demoralize and destroy the Austrian army in Albania with a view to facilitating the expected surrender of the Turks, the cable explained. General Serrero operating three columns is advancing victoriously with the object of effecting a junction with the left wing under General Esperi. The Austrians are resisting vigorously.

Germany will make every effort to maintain a grip in the east while withdrawing her forces from Belgium and northern France.

Advices from London today said that in response to notification from Turkey that the Ottoman Empire intends to propose peace to the Allies Germany mixed threats with pleadings in a lengthy note insisting that Turkey refrain from such action. Turkey's decision is expected soon.

Previous dispatches said that the Germans would likely make every effort to cling to Bulgaria by throwing all available forces into the country to oppose the Allies.

Reports from the western front today said that the Allied drives on several wide fighting sectors of the line were renewed today. Roulers has been fired by the Germans who are withdrawing from that part of Belgium.

General Haig announced that the enemy was withdrawing or a 20 mile front between Armentieres and Lens. The British pressing the retiring forces closely are advancing to a depth of two miles in heavy fighting for highly organized positions to which the Germans have clung tenaciously since before the trench warfare was abandoned in that sector.

The French continuing their advance between the Champagne and the Vesle took Challerange, a short distance east of Monthois and Loivre, 6 miles north of Rheims. General Haig reported that the British attacked again this morning north of St. Quentin where the enemy saved himself from disaster yesterday by heavy counter attacks. Progress was made by the Allied offensive in Flanders and before Cambrai and St. Quentin.

QUARTER MILLION HUNS TAKEN PRISONERS SINCE JULY FIRST

(By United Press)

Paris, Oct. 3.—The Allies took 123,036 German prisoners in France and Belgium during September, it was officially announced today. The captives included 120,193 men and 2,843 officers.

During the same period the Allies took 1600 cannons and more than 10,000 machine guns.

From July 15 to September 30, the Allies took prisoner 248,494 men and 5,518 officers and captured 3,669 cannons and 23,90 machine guns.

PRINCE MAX OF BADEN SUCCEEDS HERTLING AS GERMAN CHANCELLOR

By United Press

London, Oct. 3.—Prince Max of Baden has been appointed German Chancellor to succeed Count von Hertling, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch received from Amsterdam today.

Maximilian Alexander Frederick William was born July 10 1867. His father was the brother of the reigning Grand Duke of Baden. Max's wife was Princess Marie Louis, daughter of the Duke of Brunswick. Her family claims to be of the Royal House of Great Britain.

Lend As They Fight

COLLECT SEEDS OF CLASS 1A AND 1G. THESE FRUITS AND MEAN SAME THING. SAVE BOYS' LIVES

1. The Red Cross will be the organization in every city or town which will accept collections from all sources and make arrangement for shipping. It will also give out needed information and make announcements to the papers.

Every organization and individual in the country is expected to co-operate and take part in this vitally important campaign but the Red Cross is to be the principal Agent of the Government in connection therewith.

Materials to be Collected

- The following are the materials to be collected:
 - a. Peach stones or seeds.
 - b. Apricot pits.
 - c. Plum pits.
 - d. Olive pits.
 - e. Date seeds.
 - f. Cherry pits (only pits from native cherries can be used—do not include pits of those from Italy.)
 - g. Brazil-nut shells.
 - h. Walnut shells (English or native).
 - i. Hickory-nut shells.
 - j. Butter-nut shells.

The field has been studied carefully by Government chemists and no materials outside of the above list are desired.

In order that the Red Cross may be aided in this work the people residing within the jurisdiction of Clearfield Pennsylvania Chapter, its branches and auxiliaries, are requested to save the materials listed above and dry their own pits.

The Chapter asks that these materials be held by the collectors until a place can be arranged for at which to receive and pack them for shipment.

We are instructed to say to you that:

"Great emphasis should be placed on the fact that this is truly an emergency matter. It is a question of saving the lives and health of our men overseas from German poison gas and every patriotic citizen in the whole country should be eager to take part in this campaign."

"This Campaign is different from any yet undertaken by the Red Cross as it is being carried on at the direct

The local selective service headquarters are sending out their classification cards and as a result have since been annoyed a great deal by persons writing, telephoning and coming in to have explained to them the different classifications. From the questions asked daily very few people appeared to have carefully noted the classification information on their questionnaires.

There was some little change made in the division letters since the first questionnaires were issued following the first draft call and that seems to have caused the doubt in the minds of those inquiring.

Under the new classification all persons with a Class 1 rating are in the first call, regardless of the division letter on the card. For example: "Class 1A is a single man without dependent relatives" and of course is liable for first call. Class 1G is a registrant who is not only a single man without dependent relatives but has claimed no deferred classification. To make a long story short and to avoid further call for information regarding "division letters" it is only necessary to say that all Class 1 registrants are subject to first call regardless of division and their liability for early call or service will depend entirely on their number in the draft lottery held Monday last and which The Progress will publish shortly.

U. S. SHIP TAMPA SUNK WITH ALL ON BOARD LOST

Washington, Oct. 3.—The U. S. S. Tampa formerly a coast guard tug was sunk in foreign waters the Navy department announced today. All aboard are reported lost.

The Tampa was sunk off the English coast in Bristol channel, September 26. Reports received indicated that the Tampa was torpedoed at night while escorting a convoy. Ten officers and 102 enlisted men besides a British army officer and 5 civilians employed on the ship were reported lost.

A SPANISH INFLUENZA CURE

The following regarding "a cure" for the Spanish influenza now ravaging the Atlantic sea coast may be of interest to some of our readers:

A teaspoonful of good pure olive oil taken every two or three hours, followed by a taste of jelly or jam, such as grape jelly, to prevent irritation of the throat by the oil, and snuffing a little of the oil up the nostrils, applied with the foregoing has been sufficient without any other remedies to cure me of the grip and any colds repeatedly.

Of course it is necessary to be well clothed with extra clothing when the rooms are much below 70 degrees Fahrenheit, and especially to keep the mouth shut, breathing through the nose, in the open air.

If the doctors are willing to prescribe so simple a remedy and the people to use it in the case of the "Spanish influenza" which has been destroying so many lives up to the present time, recollecting the pride of Naamen, the Syrian leper as related in II Kings v. 8-14 when he was directed by the prophet Elisha to employ his simple prescription and the certainty with which he was cured when he complied with it, then possibly innumerable lives will be saved and the course of the fearful epidemic stopped.

LIBERTY BOND NEWS OF INTEREST TO YOU

Washington, Oct. 3.—Falling behind in its response to the Liberty Loan the nation today had only passed the $500,000,000 mark. This achievement has required four days. Thus to subscribe the minimum of six billions in the allotted time the nation must subscribe $300,000,000 a day. Officials while admitting that the country is materially behind in its response pointed out that today's figures are unfair. Reports indicate that some reports have not yet reached the Federal Reserve banks. The discrepancy therefore may not actually be as great as it appears.

General Chairman D. E. Hibner at DuBois, appears to be having the "tight wads" on the rail, according to last evening's DuBois Express, which contains the following:

Hibner Gets $150,000
General Chairman D. E. Hibner continues his work on his "go-the-limit" club in connection with the Fourth Liberty Loan Campaign in the DuBois district today and reports thirty members at $5,000 each this afternoon, a total of $150,000, which he has procured personally in less than six hours' work.

In The Philipsburg Region
A rather unique Liberty Loan meeting was held Tuesday evening at the residence of Harry Callahan at Cold Stram. The Liberty Loan orchestra was on hand; the speakers, L. G. Runk, Rev. Earl J. Bowman and Captain Goddard, and the sales force were there. The only thing lacking was the crowd. The orchestra played several selections, but only a few people, some six or seven, responded and came to the meeting.

After some consultation on the part of the sales committee, Mr. Runk announced that, on account of the smallness of the audience, the addresses of the evening would be dispensed with, and that the committee hoped that all who could would attend a meeting to be held at the North Philipsburg school house at a later date.

Then the surprise of the evening was sprung. A voice from the darkness announced that he did not propose to have the Cold Stream meeting a failure. He therewith subscribed for $1000.00. One after another of the small audience followed suit until $3600.00 was subscribed. This is the largest amount taken at a Philipsburg District meeting to date and Cold Stream may be proud of its record. Those who have this district in charge intimate that there are a few more thousand where these came from when the house to house canvass is started.

An enthusiastic Liberty Loan meeting was held at McCortney last evening. The speakers were H. B. Powell, J. Frank Snyder and Hon. Joseph E. Phillips. Following the speech making more than $7200 worth of bonds were sold.

The Smoke Run community turned out en masse last night to a Liberty Loan meeting which was addressed by Matt Savage and J. Fred Weaver. The Houtzdale band furnished music for the meeting and a good healthy bond subscription was the result.

At Coalport last evening a huge meeting was held to start the campaign, in this hustling town. The speakers were W. L. Swoope and Rev. John C. Collins, of Clearfield. Cashier Silverthorn, of the Coalport bank presided and the Clearfield Liberty Chorus furnished the music. Private Devoe and the U. S. sailor accompanying him were also present. No bonds were sold at the meeting as the Coalport committee is handling their canvass in a different manner. There was much enthusiasm manifested.

The employees of the A. W. Leonardson Company stores went over the top 100 per cent. strong on the Fourth Liberty Loan. Every individual promptly purchased a bond and the store has been awarded a 100 per cent. honor flag.

R. D. Swoope, Esq., and C. S. Russell of Curwensville, addressed a largely attended meeting at Burnside last evening at which many bonds were sold.

The Clearfield Auto Supply company qualified for the 100 per cent. class this morning, every employee emulating the example of their employer purchased one or more bonds.

TWO MORE DEATHS FROM SPANISH FLU

Two deaths in addition to those published yesterday took place at Wishaw as the result of the epidemic of Spanish influenza that has been ravaging the small mining town. Mrs. Frank Cuba, aged 28, and Francesco Artolini, aged 30 years, succumbed to pneumonia. An infant child of the dead man died early in the morning and his widow and four children are critically ill.

J. Moore Campbell a representative of the State Health Department, arrived in Wishaw Wednesday morning to aid local health authorities in the fight to check the disease. Four volunteer nurses have been secured and physicians from Sayre, Pa., Punxsutawney and Eleonore are lending their aid in caring for the afflicted ones.

DR. W. S. PIPER IN NEW YORK

Captain W. S. Piper of the U. S. Medical corps, the first Clearfield physician to offer his services to the government following the declaration of war, and who saw strenuous service with the British army in France, has arrived in New York and is likely to be home on furlough before long. Dr. Piper has been suffering from acute rheumatism for some time and was invalided back to London and thence to a New York hospital.

Remember the hospital ship! It's not what you have done! Buy as you never did before. Up, and at 'em with Liberty Bonds—lower interest—Buy Bonds and keep them.

OUR ALLIES ARE WATCHING

We now know that the Allies are watching the situation in Belgium, France and the mighty sea power, England, wrecked the long-aided plan of Teuton devastation. Our Allies did all this with but one aim: to save our best blood and treasure the works of civilization against the ungodly fury of the Hun. The rest of the world can never quite repay their sacrifices during the dark days when Germany swept full panicked over her borders.

They have done their part nobly during four long years. Now comes our turn! We are needed, badly needed! We have raised the men, and shall raise more—but the bravest men are powerless against Germany's forty years of preparation unless we back them with the power of our money.

Our Allies are watching for America's expression of the will to win—the will to destroy Prussia's might—the will to reap the fruits of their long, heroic struggle for right and decency. Let them see! Show them your appreciation! Double your subscription for Liberty Bonds! Buy all you can pay for on the installment plan! Pledge by the week, by the month—but BUY!

'T 'IM WHILE 'E'S GROGGY

Well authenticated reports hint that the evacuation of Belgium by the Huns is started or at least in preparation. Old Man Hindenburg and his slave drivers and child murderers are finally becoming weak and tired under the merciless hammering of the British, the French, the Belgians and the Italians, all of whom have taken new heart since they see that the United States means business in our war against the principle that "might makes right". An advancing army always has the knowledge of territory gained to bolster up their courage and morale and it should be remembered that the Huns were to all appearances an advancing and victorious army previous to the fighting of this last July. Since that time they have been forced to give ground on every front where they have come in contact with Allied forces. In their various retreats they have come to realize that all the territory gained and loot taken was "stolen goods" and while for a time they gloated over the possession of their ill-gotten gain, the forced giving up of it will be all the harder. Their brigandage is all in vain. Their blood has been sacrificed for a lost cause and they are beginning to see it. Four years of great prosperity to a nation skilled in science and arts is wasted and traded for a reputation that they cannot live down in centuries. The Hun warrior is still scrappy in spots but as a whole he is wavering; groggy from the effects of the first defeats he has experienced in years. The sentiments of the Tommy, "it 'im while 'e's groggy," are the proper ones for this month. They are doing that very thing on the Belgian battle line. What are you doing toward 'tittin' 'im with a big Liberty Bond subscription?

WHAT HOME SERVICE MEANS

When America entered the war, John Smith wanted to enlist immediately. He had always been a great help financially to his widowed mother, but he felt it his duty to go and fight in the great world struggle, and his mother agreed. She said that as William, the younger boy, was getting along well in his work, and Jane had a new position in a store, she could manage nicely.

It took courage to say this, as much courage as she could muster, for John had been the comfort and mainstay of the family in every way, managing the expenses, and looking carefully after the younger children; but she determined not to stand in the way of duty.

For awhile all went well; then William had a serious illness and was unable to work for weeks. Jane had to stay at home so much to help nurse him, that she lost her position, and could not find another. The mother was worn out with anxiety, and there was no money coming in except the small amount John sent out of his private's pay, which was not enough to buy food.

Finally one day in deep despair she took the advice of a neighbor, and went to the Home Service Department of the Red Cross.

"I never thought I'd have to ask help of anyone in my life," she said pathetically to the Home Service Worker, "But everything unexpected has happened to me at once, and I just feel overwhelmed."

Many women feel "overwhelmed" in these days when the head of the family has gone to war, and unexpected problems come up for the mother or wife to face. Often these problems are entirely too great for the resourcefulness of the women, and then the Home Service Department of the Red Cross stands ready and anxious to help.

In the case of John's mother, it gave financial aid till William was able to work again, found another position for Jane, and visited and encouraged the worried woman till her family affairs were straightened out. So in many cases it helps in various ways, keeping up the family courage till the soldiers return.

No more important branch of the Red Cross exists, for unless the man away fighting for his country knows that all is well with the ones back home, he loses heart and his efficiency is weakened. It is a patriotic duty to care for the lonely families of our

A Word About the Cost of Clothes

For the same reason that you pay more for everything else you need, you expect to pay more for your clothing.

The most unfortunate feature of the higher cost of materials and manufacturing is the resultant readjustment in qualities.

This has brought down some nameless brands of clothing to the lowest point in quality. The compromise that has been made between quality and price is detrimental to the man who wears that kind of clothes.

The merchant who yields to the temptation to buy cheapened clothes so as to increase his margin of profit is not safe-guarding the interests of his customers.

For our part we will conduct our business just as we have always conducted it—on the principle that men, young men and youths want the best clothes they can get for the money. That's why we offer you

Society Brand Clothes

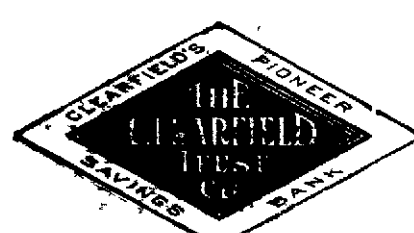

In a garment bearing the Society Brand label you may be sure that no adulterated fabrics have been used, that there has been no tampering with the inner and unseen details—in short, that you are just as safe in buying these clothes now as you were before the war started.

In this store you will get only clothes that will give you satisfaction; clothes of such good value that you will save money. All merchandise you buy here is guaranteed to give you complete satisfaction.

GLEANING FROM SOLDIER'S LETTERS

Amex Forces, France, Sept. 6th.

Dearest Mother and all: Am now in the advance zone and working mighty hard. Since writing last I have been moved again. This time the trip was made in a box car. As you can see conditions were not ideal but we enjoyed the trip and had an interesting time.

The country that we passed thru was very pretty and the towns quite interesting. We loafed for a whole day in a railroad yard and that morning I ran into George Moore. Believe me it was good to see some one from home. He was also in transit and I spent almost the whole day with him. He had been to the front for a while and had taken diphtheria and had been sent back to a hospital. He was well again and was on his way to rejoin his company. He says he is getting along fine.

We reached here one evening and were billeted in a small town. By this time I have managed to get a pretty good bed together and everything is moving along smoothly now. I thought I knew what hard work was but I sure have been working hard for the past week. Breakfast, work, dinner, work, supper, and perhaps work, but we all realize that it must be done and we have very few slackers. This village is quite a small one. The people all seem moderately well off. The first night here I made friends with a family. We go and talk with them almost every evening but I never expect to be able to speak French. It is hard to pick up and I do not have any back ground to work on and no time to study the fundamentals. It is lots of fun, however, to try to talk to them and try to make them understand. That is about all I can tell. My location and the nature of the work is tabooed. Am just as safe here as I would be in Camp Hancock. At times we can hear firing and we see numerous airplanes, but do not worry about my safety. The news from the front has been very encouraging for the past three or four days. It seems that the allied armies are resolute.

Am enclosing a request for the socks I missed. This address should reach me even though I may be moved. Please send them at once. Received my first mail last night. It was a letter from Alice Baker written July 3th. I was glad to hear it.

We all feel that our unit will come regularly now, and I am anxiously waiting for word from home. Our old bunch is pretty well split up. I am still with some of the boys and that helps a lot. Although I do not have much faith in army schools, after the work at the supply school has turned out as it has, I figure that the knowledge will not hurt any one and now that I have a chance to take 60 days in studying ammunition I am going to do it. Home folks are permitted to send papers. They sure would be appreciated. This is my fourth letter to you. Love to everybody.

Walter R. Owens in a letter to his mother Mrs. I. G. Owens, written from Chatter's Hill, England, says he is enjoying himself greatly. He visited a coast town and was nicely treated. He says they have been having nice weather but the nights are much colder there than they are here this time of year.

George R. Seger, of Grampian, writing to his mother tells of his trip across the ocean and says he could have made a great haul of fish going over if he had taken his rod and line along. He says it is worth half a boy's life to see what he had already seen. Ed. Rafferty and Doris Sterling are all the boys from home here.

HOT WATER THE BEST LIVER AND BOWEL MEDICINE

Days glass of hot water before breakfast washes poisons from system

Physicians the world over recommend the inside bath, claiming it is of vastly more importance than outside cleanliness because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing ill health while the pores in the ten yards of bowels do.

Men and women are urged to drink each morning, before breakfast a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of Epsom's Salts in it and a laxative means of helping to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the various days indigestible material, poisons, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and urinating the entire alimentary canal before taking more food into the stomach.

Just as soap and hot water cleanse and freshen the skin so hot water and Epsom's Salts act on the eliminative organs.

Those who wake up with bad breath, coated tongue, nasty taste or have a dull aching head, sallow complexion, acid stomach; others who are subject to bilious attacks or constipation should obtain a quarter pound of Epsom's Salts at the drug store. This will cost very little but is sufficient to demonstrate the value of inside bathing. Those who continue ill each morning are assured of pronounced results, both in regard to health and appearance.

Remember the hospital ships! Liberty is cheap at the price! It's your chance to STRIKE!

COMMITTEE ON PUBLIC INFORMATION RELEASES STORY OF FIRST BATTLE OF THIS WAR ON THE HIGH SEAS

By Arthur E. McFarlane

"That was School an' Schmitt. Was they Americans? Sure, 'em of us, in the armed guard was Americans." And we sat back on the bunk of that little white-painted colly hole that was his quarters, and waited for him to go on. Around us were all the bunk houses and officers' quarters of the Brooklyn Armed Guard Camp. And the armed guard of the speaker's story was the one that made America's first fight to a finish with the Hun on the sea.

In fact, the story-teller was that armed guard's commander, by name Andrew Compassaki, late gunners mate on the Arizona, and a native of Greece. Also he told his story only under compulsion.

Its beginning? His gunners were taking care of the 4,500-ton gasoline freighter Moreni. She met her submarine one hazy dawn, away back in June, 1917, off Cape Palos, Spain. From the start she was outraged and outlandish. She could use only one gun, because of her superstructure, while the Hun was raking her with two. For the last hour her gun pointers and range-finders made their fight above gasoline which was on fire. And in the last minutes the attacker ran in close, used the Moreni's burning "gas" as a smoke screen, and simply overwhelmed her with shrapnel and high explosive both. Only that isn't the story. Or perhaps it isn't the story at all, as a story, that really counts.

But let the thing come out as Compassaki told it.

"Oh, by then they was holin' us good! Forty or fifty holes we had, I guess. An' the gas was runnin' out of them an' burnin' on the water. The merchant crew? They was fine! Once the fire got air enough, well, the stokers an' oilers, they was goin' to go the first, an' sure. An' you but they knowed it. But only once in a while one of them come up—just to see how we're makin' out. Not any more than that. They was fine! Americans? Sure. Spanish-Americans, from Porto Rico."

"Up above, too, the shrapnel was comin'. The shrapnel shells, they was the worst. Som'times they'd break so close we'd all be laid flat. It was like that when they got Conover. Another, it carried away our wireless. An' when the boy was reportin' that—he was laughin', too—by golly he was som' sponky kid, only I couldn't always understand his talk—another shrapnel cleaned out his house an' dynamoes. But it was later he died—when he was bein' picked up—like Moustner an' Geisen."

"By that time, all our after ammunition was gone, an' I had to make a line to pass it from the forward magazine. Some of our boys I used, and some from the crew. An' all the time, that damn gas volcano, it was waitin' to let go beneath us. But the boys, they was all just a kind-a laughin'. An' every time ole Fritz would get to us good, 'Fine!' they'd say, 'Fine! Som' sholin' son. But maybe, at that, maybe if you once come close enough, by-y gee, we'll get you yet!"

"That was what we was all hopin'—if only we could get him close enough! There was one big fellow, big enough to carry two or three shells, he just kep' smilin' all the time. You'd say fightin' Germans was where he lived. An' I was just goin' to say to him, 'Say, I guess you could do it all yourself, hay?' But I didn't. For right then a shell come, an' cut him near in two. He was a Finn, or a Russian-American."

"Well, it was then, too, that our wheel ropes was shot away. I didn't know then it was that. All I know is, the ship wasn't steerin' no more. She was just goin' round an' round in that burnin' gas. By golly, I thinks that's somethin' more to see about. An' I was startin' up forward to the steerin' bridge w'en—woot—that volcano it come!"

"The whole port side of the deck went down. No boys was on that side. I don't think nobody was. An' there wasn't no explosion, no great big explosion. But it was enoff without. It sure looked like that was the end!"

Outside on the barracks gun mounts, a row crew flung smashing-ly into practice with the big six-inchers. But Compassaki raised his voice a little, and went on again.

"All the boys that was aft, they had their orders. An' they had their boats assigned—different boats, to give the best chance that sombody could be saved to make the report. But the boys forward, with the odder gun, they'd got to see me, too. The fire, it was blowin' every way. But I fixed my coat around my head, an' got through it that way, an' only my hands and arms was burned."

"By golly, you'd say all the ship was blazin' then. An' when she began to go around all the flames was the other way, so that nobody could see each other for the smoke. The boys, when I got to them, they didn't know where who was alive an' who was dead. There was one good boat left. Anyhow, she looked good then. An' the captain an' som' of the crew, they was tryin' to get her clear. 'Come on!' they kep' a-hollerin'. 'By cripes, come on!' They thought they couldn't go no more.

"An' them boys, I guess they thought they couldn't go no more. They knowed that som' was dead. An' what wasn't wounded, they was burned. They thought that anyhow they got to give up the ole ship then. An' the tears was runnin' off their eyes. They thought they was done."

"But they wasn't! They wasn't! Just then the smoke cleared again. We could see that Dotehman. An' we could see our magazine an' our ammunition. If we couldn't get it to the other gun no more, that was all right. We had another."

"'Boys, I says, 'Stick! Stick! Come back to it! This is the time for us Americans to make our name! An' they did come back to it, an' we fought them wit' that forward gun." They came back. They fought with that forward gun. And, after that, in a life boat that was splinter riddled, they tried to carry on the fight with a machine gun. They believed they might be able to get near enough to the submarine to board her. But that is not the real ending of the story. It is this.

"And the captain?" "Did he come back?"

"Sure!" gleamed Compassaki. "Sure! 'Mate, he says, 'I gase the ole ship is gone. An' I gase we're all a-goin' wit' her. But that's all right. Led her go. By-y yee, I stick to the end!—Tomson, I think his name was, born in Norway. An' I think he was an American, too."

"American, too." And we who are Smiths and Jones and Robinsons—Americans of the old sort—are just beginning to understand that. We follow the records of our aces. Almost a fifth of them have German names. Recently some one checked over our first 5,000 casualties by race—so far as the names could indicate it—and discovered that about one-tenth of them seemed to be Polish. For years we have talked of the "melting pot," but haven't felt that we could quite believe in it. Well, this war is a genuine melting pot; or, better, a kind of great blast furnace crucible. And it is showing what already has been done, and, day by day, is doing new fusing that will stand forever.

You Won't Go Wrong On These New Silks And Satins For Fall Sewing

As the wool and cotton situation becomes more and more stringent with each passing day, women who are particular about their dresses are turning to silks and satins as a dress material without hesitation.

These new silks and satins that we have just unpacked are especially interesting in that they are of the highest quality that could have been secured for the money and they are priced just as low as good business policy will permit.

Sheer, shimmery satins of the Fall's prettiest shades in blue, white, flesh, black, rose and taupe. These are particularly good values at the price. $2 yd. Soft, wearable silks that will stand the wear that the thrifty woman gives all her clothes. The Fall's prettiest shades are here and, of course, the always staple black. Priced according to the quality at $1.50, $1.75 and $1.90 the yard.

What Do You Mean "Afford"?

By George Ade

We come to another big task. This time we need not call for helpers. The volunteer workers stream in myriad hosts along the main highway leading to victory and vindication.

All patriots, by confession.

The grumblers are awed into silence. If the taint of disloyalty remains anywhere it is hidden as a shameful secret. The heads are wagging and we hear many bold assurances:

"I'll do all I can."

"I'll go as far as the next fellow."

"I'll take all I can afford to take."

We are speaking, of course, of the Fourth Liberty Loan and the willingness of the war-backers to subscribe.

This time we do not explain a Liberty Loan and how it works, or why we battle with Germany or that a war costs money. It will just about require a search-warrant to find a man who does not say that he will take all of the bonds he can "afford" to take.

But, O my countrymen, we need night schools and correspondence schools, private tutors and Chautauquas and special information bureaus to enlighten Mr. A. and Mr. B. and Mr. C. as to the real meaning of the word "afford."

Are you penciling around to find out how much money you can set aside without the slightest inconvenience to any of your pet private projects?

Are you trying to decide how many bonds you will have to take in order to escape the charge of being a slacker?

Are you getting ready to answer in hundreds a country that has endowed you with thousands?

As you squint your eyes and try to decide upon the sum which will fairly represent your individual quota, are you acting as attorney for the United States of America or have you gone in for technicalities in order to protect special interests?

In reasoning with your conscience, are you trying to be generous or trying to play safe?

It is up to you.

The buck cannot be passed.

It is for each man to decide whether he is going to be a thoroughbred or a squeezer of 50-cent pieces.

For the sake of your own self-respect, come through to the limit. If you live to be a thousand years old you never will have another chance to start your iron dollars upon such a noble mission.

Do you wish to deepen the wrinkles upon the brows in Potsdam?

Would you fortify the courage of every soldier in France?

Shall we set in such a stack that the Kaiser can't see over the top of it?

All right! You are appointed a Special Agent.

Don't wait for a committee to hunt you up or run you down.

Hurry to the bank and break through the line and order so many Liberty Bonds that the man inside will be dazed and all of the neighbors surprised and all of your relatives proud.
